

THE RED CARD

THE OFFICIAL
NEWSLETTER OF THE
WARRNAMBOOL DISTRICT
HOCKEY ASSOCIATION

7 Th day of May, 1994

Well ladies and gentlemen, I am back. Sorry about the absence last week but, things happened and I was not able to get the information that I needed for the Red Card, but now I have., and I promise not to let it happen again.(My toes are crossed.) Remember that this is yours to keep and you can take it home and collect them all. Who knows, it may well be worth something one day.

First off I must have a bit of a complain about the weather we have been having lately. It may not be winter yet, but some cloud cover would be good. Especially for us goal keepers who have all of the gear. If anyone has a direct line to whoever it is that is in charge of the weather department, could they please have a word to them for me. Ta much.

For those who did not see the Monday Standard. We had the results from last weekend actually published on a Monday in amongst all of the football information. So a big congratulations to the Standard. Lets hope that it continues.

I am looking for someone to write a little bit of something each week to put into the Red Card. It does not have to be a serious thing, just something that you would like to say. Maybe a personal attack on someone that you think deserves it. You can hide behind the freedom of the press act. So someone please think about it.

In the association news this week we are still looking for some coaches and managers and bus drivers for the three country week teams. There has been some interest in the junior section, but teams should be starting to be put together now. There is a sheet up on the notice board near the committee room for you to put your name and phone number on if you wish to go. I recommend that you do because it is a great learning experience. And Travis Cann still thinks that he "should have been school captain."

Now for a reminder to all clubs and committee members of the committee meeting that will be held on the 10Th of May, That's a Tuesday night, starting at 7.30. Be early if possible, or at least on time. That's from the top so please make an effort.

Well there you go, that was what happened two weeks ago, and I'm not afraid to admit that if you look at the first Red Card for this year I did not go to well in the tipping area. One junior game, One womens game and One mens. 50% is not to bad, but....

NOW FOR LAST WEEK.

So there you go. That was last weeks games and one of the womens goal keepers was kept very busy and got to know Corbett and Burke from Tech. very well. Didn't she Steph ?!!!!

There were a few high scoring games in both the mens and womens. Tech. V Mariners was a very high game, nine goals to nil. The Tech. V Phantoms was not quite as high as that, only six to two.

It may well only be a few games into the season but I think that I have already worked out who will be in the finals.

In the juniors it will be out of

* Marauders and Technique. Marauders are miles in front of everyone else and Tech. have beaten them all.

* Mariners will play out a hard game against Technique. You may not have heard yet but there are people talking about changing the finals system for the mens. With only the top two teams at the end of the season going directly into the final. So there's an extra incentive for teams to try that little bit harder. Go for it guys.

* In the women you may as well give the cup up now and hand it over to Technique. They are ahead of everyone at the moment a will hold it together to go all the way yet again. As to who will play them you may as well run a raffle. No-one looks like following the lead from Tech. and take control. I think the other spot will be fought out by Mariners and Phantoms.

Just straying a bit now now, but the Tech. men have had a very consistent start to the season. I have only let goals through during the last five or so minutes, the other guys may not agree, but that's life and learn to live with it.

The ladder after three rounds for the seniors and five for the juniors stands as follows;

JUNIORS

That is how I worked the ladder out to be, but I may be wrong. Not that I am all that often.

* Both teams have had a draw

THIS WEEKS GAMES

7Th day of May 1994

ROUND FOUR MENS.

1.30 Phantoms V Mariners G1

This game should be a bit of a non event. Mariners will take this game easily having won all three games so far, not convincingly though. Mariners to win 2-1

3.15 Combine V Technique G3

Tech won it last time and will do so again. Tech's goal scorers are firing at the moment and will get this game 4-0. I promise I wont let any through in the last few minutes' guys. (Fingers are crossed)

ROUND FOUR WOMENS

1.30 Combine V Submariners G2

Combine have the chance for a win here, but ask them if they can do it because I have no idea at all. Chance is there. Subs had a big loss last week and they have the chance to bounce back. I reserve my opinion on this one till next week.

3.15 Technique V Phantoms G2

This game will not really happen. Phantoms will be blow off the field in this game. Phantoms may put up a bit of a fight, but don't hold your breath. You may well suffocate. I say 9-0

Mariners have the bye.

ROUND SIX JUNIORS

1.30 Maraudres V Technique G3

I have to say Tech. will win this one because I play for Tech. It will be a close game. Tech will need a full team to win but I say Tech., over Marauders 2-3

3.15 Combine V Mariners G1

Combine won last week and Mainers lost, so I have to go with that. Mariners are a very young team, as Combine was a few years ago. Combine 5-1

So that's my prediction for this week. I may not go to well at tipping, but I'll give it a go. If I have upset anyone in the process, STIFF CHEESE. I'm allowed to because I'm the editor. So there.

NEXT WEEKS DRAW

14Th day of May 1994

ROUND SEVEN

3.15 Marauders V Mariners G3

MENS

1.30 Technique V Mariners G1

3.15 Combine V Phantoms G1

WOMENS

1.30 Submariners V Phantoms G2

3.15 Combine V Mariners G2
